

Are citizens ready for co-production?

Co-production survey results from Australia, Germany and the UK: Implications for market research in public services

15TH West Midlands Co-Production Network Workshop

Hosted by Birmingham University

---

Date and Time: Tuesday, 28 April 2015, 10:00am – 1:00pm

Venue: Birmingham University (room to be determined)

Programme

- 09:30 - 10:00 Arrival and poster session
- 10.00-10.15 Welcome and introductions
Tony Bovaird, Professor Emeritus, Birmingham University and Director, Governance International
- 10:15 - 11.00 Co-Production in Australia: Latest trends and challenges
John Alford, Professor, University of Melbourne and Australia and New Zealand School of Government (ANZSOG)
- 11.00-11.30 Co-Production in Germany to improve the wellbeing of young and older people: Evidence from focus groups and a national citizen survey
Elke Loeffler, Chief Executive, Governance International
- 11.30 - 11.45 Break
- 11:45 - 12:15 Are citizens in the UK ready for co-production? Survey results from five local authorities in England and Wales
Tony Bovaird, Professor Emeritus, Birmingham University and Director, Governance International
- 12:15 – 13.00 Workshop: Market research for co-production in the UK
- Networking session – all participants have the chance to share their current co-production activities and projects

